Dedication

Dr. Hornsby, who has been at LaGrange College for the past 11 years, was chosen for this honor by a vote of the senior class. He was selected from five candidates recommended jointly by the yearbook editor, senior members of the yearbook staff, and the Student Government Association president.

He received this award primarily because of his ability to relate to students both inside and outside of the classroom. He is very interesting, a lot of fun, and very inspiring.

It is the second honor awarded to Dr. Hornsby during the academic year. Last fall he received the Grayson M. Bradley Award in recognition for outstanding service. The annual award is made by members of the LaGrange College faculty to the faculty member who has demonstrated outstanding service both to the school, its students, faculty and administration.

Dr. Hornsby has been a member of the LaGrange College faculty since 1966. He received a doctorate degree in English Literature from Auburn University (1972) and earned his Bachelor of Science in Education (1963) and master's (1965) from the University of Georgia.

A scholar of 17th Century literature, Dr. Hornsby was awarded a fellowship for special study last summer (1976) at Brown University, Providence, R.I.

He has done additional graduate work at the Institute of Victorian Studies at the University of London in England and was awarded a fellowship in 1974 for post doctoral studies at the Southeastern Institute of Medieval and Renaissance Studies at Duke University.

He is a member of the Amici Thomae Mori, the Bibliographical Society, the Milton Society of America, the Renaissance Society of America, and the South Atlantic Modern Language Association.

Dr. Hornsby has published articles and reviews in "Style," the "Bible Translator," "English Studies," the "Renaissance Quarterly," and the "Southern Humanities Review."

Independence

Thinking and acting for one's self; self directing; proceeding from or expressive of a spirit of independence.

These words characterize the force that propelled our nation to freedom two hundred years ago. It is this same spirit of Independence and self determination upon which Mansour's was founded. Since 1917 we have thought and worked for ourselves; striving to bring the best to our community. We pledge to continue our service to the people of West Georgia and East Alabama in bringing the finest clothing and most complete service to be found anywhere.

Berry College Board of Visitors is a group of business, professional, and civic leaders committed to higher education . . . willing to share their expertise and viewpoints with students. They bring the "outside world" to the campus. And they take the campus to their plants and offices when field trips can be arranged. These photos were made on a recent visit of a Berry student/faculty team to the Carpet & Rug Division of WestPoint Pepperell in Dalton, Ga. Briefings, plant tours, question-and-answer sessions . . . led to a better understanding of business by students, and a higher regard for students by businessmen.

Nothing can continue to exist if it has not acquainted itself with failure at one time or another. Yet, it is sad that in this age we are too often judged by our failures rather than our accomplishments. La Grange College exists today not only because of its objective of being an excellent institution of higher learning but also because of people like you and me who have made it what it is by benefiting from failure and appreciating success. The 1977 Quadrangle Staff and I have attempted to express the importance of appreciating all the things that have made, are making, and will continue to make LaGrange College truly a unique place.

Much appreciation goes to Dean Love, Dean Alford, and Mrs. Toney; Mr. Dunn and Mrs. Towns; Cindy Tuck, David Hancock, Noel Burt, Greg Padgett, Pam Jones, and Susan McGaha; Rita Muse and Sue Ellen Pruett; and especially my mother and Mrs. Funderburk for making the 1977 Quadrangle a success.
